Why is my KBPS so low? At times it reaches 130kbps and at other times its a measly 30kbps. Its driving me nuts. Should I strangle my buddy, who just happens to work for the company that supplies my cable bandwidth or is this a problem within my home? I have an RCA modem, a LinkSys router and so on and so forth. Also, when I connect to westwod online it clocks my connection as being between 57760 & 128K but a month or 2 ago was getting consistant 512K - 1 or 2 mb connection. WTF is going on? Regardless of the answer I have decided to smack around my buddy cuz it will make me feel better

BTW: My ping is always around 100, sfps 40ish fps 40ish, at least on the fastconn server
