As far as I know, the SBH only kick up snow... I have never personally seen or heard of them kicking up dirt in the field tunnels. If they did I would imagine you would have to look pretty closely to keep finding them like this.

True. SBH's don't even kick up water, so it would be very strange if they did kick up dirt.

Also, from many years of experience in this game and lots of sniping in the Field tunnels, I have never been able to spot a completely stealthed SBH from that range. Not even when walking (through the dirt).
