

---

Subject: Re: Fanboy Thread #8 - Image Hosting
Posted by slosha on Sun, 29 Nov 2009 18:34:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

R315r4z0r wrote on Sun, 29 November 2009 12:01 Photobucket is the best.

Photobucket has an excellent free service. It allows for an extremely large array of hosting space for free. I can customize my galleries with backgrounds and borders. It has a web-based image editor that isn't that bad. And I don't know who said otherwise, but Photobucket has never deleted any of the images I've put on their site in the 4 years I've had a free account. It even allows video uploads.

Another cool feature of photobucket is that it allows you to track where your images are being shown. It gives a graph depicting the websites your images are shown at and how many people view them.

The way I see it... if you're going to upload something to a specific place, why not have an account that keeps track of it all for you and allows you to view your archived images? It's free and worth it. This. Photobucket is the shit.

---