A router, plus Windows' built in firewall should be more than enough protection.

Even without a router, you should be OK with just Windows if you don't do dumb stuff online. If not, ZoneAlarm is a good free antivirus, but that's the only one I've used, and that was a while ago.

Ya lol, I have a link system router with a custom DD-wrt firmware and plus windows firewall, but I wanna be a lil more safe.

Windows Firewall = WIN.

(Yes, it's a little unexpected, but the built in firewall is better than most commercial firewalls.)
Some reason, I find that hard to believe.

if you're not going to listen to the advice that you came here for, then just stop fucking posting anyway,

you should try this site, shieldsup!, which will test if your computer is vulnerable:
www.grc.com/x/ne.dll?bh0bkyd2

No im listening to everyone advice, but to hear someone defend a windows product to me is a new one =], currently firewall wise, i have the router and windows firewall, antivirus i have symantec anti virus corporate edition, the nice clean one. not that norton brand shit that integrates itself into every aspect of your pc...
