We just wanted to reinvest the money into the community that we love. [NE] Public Warzone shutdown years ago, and splitting the money five ways to the NE's that played the most is only 8 bucks per player, so the clan has no use for the money. The servers our members play on are Exodus and Atomix, mostly due to the numbers and lack of really crazy mods.

The decision wasn't any more complex than that: we'd like to help the servers we play on. The point wasn't that they had lost the tournament; in fact we had made the decision before checking to see if they were in the tournament.
