Agreed. I'm just saying, the fact that the temp. is rising is only for a really small part caused by human pollution. The temperature has been changing way before there ever was such a thing as human pollution. Anyone remember the ice ages? Was that caused by human pollution? No. Therefore people should stop being so overdramatic about this whole thing.

SSADMVR wrote on Sun, 20 December 2009 09:47 It's not a scam. But it's not really something we should fear either. It's nature. Temperature increases and decreases have been on this planet since over 9000 years.
how many personalities do you have?
