

---

Subject: Re: Global Warming: Real or Fraud
Posted by Dover on Thu, 24 Dec 2009 10:21:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

R315r4z0r wrote on Wed, 23 December 2009 20:12No. To assist in a kill, you need to have a conscious means to aid before actually starting.

To relate a kill assist to humans aiding in global warming, you would be saying that humans started releasing these emissions because they wanted to assist in global warming. That is not the case.

The assistance is a by-product of our ignorance and it is now too late to go back.

It is our fault for assisting in speeding up the process, but it is not our fault it exists.

That is not to say that we shouldn't do what we can to fix out mistakes, but we don't have to go crazy worrying about something that is irreversible and will inevitably happen.

"I didn't MEAN to run over all those orphans! I was just ignorant of them being in front of me, and their deaths were a by-product of that ignorance! And it wasn't me, it was the car! I was just assisting! IT'S NOT MY FAULT!!"

---