two things. firstly, i'm not really seeing how a screenshot or even a fraps video could prove whether or not a game result went to the right team. only logical debate can really sort that out, and we've had plenty of logical debate about it - and, once again, simpee's side has been completely thrashed every single time, without exception.

secondly, being proven wrong does not make the anti-pointsfix crowd stfu. look at this thread, or any of the others.
