Haven't had to burn a dvd movie in years but need to make one. I figured i'd give windows 7 DVD maker a shot and it made the video turn out quite well.. except no audio. I go take a peak on file source i was using and the audio was encoded in 5.1 so I could only imagine windows dvd maker couldn't decode it correctly.

So anyways years ago I've tried my huge handful of assorted software, conversion utilities and the like and was wondering what people use to burn xvid avi files to dvd with the best results?
