PC's and Macs aren't trying to mimic something else. The GH drum set mimics real drums better and also play better with that layout (but not purely because they mimic real drums better).

A normal one? Friends can disagree on preferences.
If I misinterpreted what you meant to say, my apologies.

I find that using practice mode makes me worse. I work best when just trying out the full song as opposed to slower speeds or specific snippets.

I use free play too, but the campaign does a good job of ordering the songs by difficulty, which is why I use it to train.
