It drives me nuts cause it fluxuates. Before Comcast came to town and took AT&T my cable connection was awesome. never once did it go out and I always had at least a 1MB connection when I connect to WOL. now I never get over 115600K ffs!!!! and yet, when I test my internet connection it reads somewhere between 2.5-3.5MB download and 200-300KPBS upload. from here on out, I see a Comcast repair-man van drive by im running it off the road :twisted: :twisted: :twisted:
