@reaver why should we have to explain our own programs to other people. if everyone has the program it would mean that we had to monitor every player that uses it.. + the chance they would find a bypass would be alot bigger.

If EKT members use it as an excuse that they shouldnt get banned / that they cant be cheating. Well then you might want to explain what it is.

Look I have heard crazy stories in the Renegadeworld but for all I know that program can contain a hack.
