Your statement about the 4870 is only true when you got the 1GB version as that will otherwise be in many cases a bottleneck on 1680 or higher resolutions.

I always forget about the 512MB variants of the 4870.

Oh btw, it looks lik the HD5830 should be out end january, and should perform similar or better than the HD4890 but with DX11 and eyefinity.

Apparently, it'll be priced under the $200 US mark, and it looks like it'll be a great card for the price. Maybe wait until it's revealed.
