LOL NO WAY!!!

Instead, maybe consider this combo as a start:

You'd then add a Phenom 955/965 to it, and go from there. My buddy has an older version of this board, and he absolutely loves it. He's in the same boat as you because he wasn't interested in OC'ing, and just wanted some awesome HD gaming. However, if you ever do decide to OC in the future, this board will handle it really well.
