
Subject: Re: THAT'S RACIST!

Posted by zeratul on Thu, 11 Mar 2010 22:10:46 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

R315r4z0r wrote on Wed, 10 March 2010 23:19

Unless it's was specifically created to be a racial joke, the only racism that goes on is in the mind of the viewer. (Someone who sees the image and immediately thinks it's a racial joke has the most racist view of the situation.)

Basically, if I was to make a joke image against a black guy with no real intention of it being a racist joke, the only person/people who would be racist are the people who see the image and assume it's racist.

That makes sense... some of the black people i know take every joke seriously and always comment, "Why are WHITE people ALWAYS so racist" yet when someone who is not white makes the same type of joke its fine.... this is sign of racism and THAT is the type of people i dont like
