I'll second BK as being a pretty bad place. The stuff is pretty expensive, and I've found the food to be mediocre on the few occasions I've been, whether it was the one near Niagara Falls, or the one in downtown Vancouver. Even the 'Hungry Jacks' in Australia, which is their version of BK, sucked.

I haven't had America's version of A&W, but the Canadian one is pretty good. They always have decent deals every week or so. Dairy Queen's burgers are also really awesome, and priced well.
