Dear members of Renegade Forums!

On behalf of the RGCT2 development team, I would like to extend an invitation to your community to participate in this Renegade tournament.

The RGCT2 will be hosted by the Exodus Gaming Community. Although the event will be based at the Exodus forums, the development team consists of members from many Renegade communities, including Jelly, CW.cc, NS, SoQ, NE, TK2 and Atomix. Numerous individuals from these communities have provided us with excellent talent and organization skills, allowing the RGCT2 to be a successful, fun, and competitive tournament that brings Renegade communities together once again.

Sign up lists, instructions, and other information can be found in the staging area created on the Exodus forums, that can be found at <http://www.exoduscommunity.com/forum/65-rgct2/> I would like to stress that although the area is hosted by Exodus, the RGCT2 is an event for all communities to gather and have fun together. The new area, separated from other Exodus sub-sections, will act as a "base of operations" for all communities to congregate; however, we do encourage participating communities to utilize their own resources to manage their teams.

You can view the RGCT2 section via this link: <http://www.exoduscommunity.com/forum/65-rgct2/>

I would extremely appreciate your participation in the RGCT2 and I hope that you, along with other Renegade communities, will come together for another amazing Renegade gathering. Thank you.

On behalf of the RGCT2 Administration team.

Regards, Hypnos.
