99,9% of the skins is fail simply because the creators just finished their first skins and release them all over the internet. And they are pleased to early. (like -> Yay my recolor works!)

Not to be mean Zeratul but your first skins where crap too. (now the cursors you make look nice)

Though G-1-D has a trackrecord for beginner skins.

Maybe it is an idea to change the modrelease section a bit?
To like filter the junk out of it? (problem is the definition of 'junk')
Tbh i'm not to proud of my first skins i've been experimenting trying to make something that looks good.... i hope to god your not including the "penis cursor" in the list that look nice...
