

---

Subject: Re: Punishing a Child

Posted by GEORGE ZIMMER on Sat, 03 Apr 2010 16:42:49 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

snpr1101 wrote on Sat, 03 April 2010 01:55GEORGE ZIMMER wrote on Fri, 02 April 2010 21:39When someone isn't really doing anything wrong and you're punishing them just cuz you're pissed off, then that's when it's abuse.

So if you smack a kid over the head with baseball bat because he did something wrong, thats not abuse.

But if you happen to feel like some batting practice but ran out of balls; and use the childs head as one, it is?

Ah, so this must mean abuse lies within the reason for hitting the child, not the excessive force used to discipline them.

I see, i see.

obviously there's such a thing as excess force, but I figured people were smart enough to know that hitting someone with a baseball bat is going overboard.

shit like spanking, grounding, taking away certain things (nothing that would make them unable to live, obviously) and etc are ways to punish a child. baseball bat to the head is retarded, but I guess common sense isn't people's strongpoints.

---