@ DutchNeon: for me I play on a lot of different servers and these accusations happen rarely...probably by newer players. The only worrying aspect of it is that their word has the potential to create suspicion...and it spreads to others. I myself was kinda shocked when this Overo guy talked about me flying 2 days ago and saying that he suspected me then just cuz I was doing good.

Basically I am someone that wants to clarify any doubts/accusation right then and there. Otherwise it has the potential to spread...I don't want ppl to go "ahh the cheat is here!" when I join. So making complete posts with SS, logs, and explaining it well in the community forum always helps (me) out because then the admins/mods have my side of the story...though this is never a problem at n00bstories since they are very prompt, through, and detailed about these things.

Also, I always ignore players that say "hack" and whine about it for 20 secs. The ones that are more likely to defame your name are the ones like this Overo that keep going on and on the whole game. The guy didn't even stop typing in all chat...only after I left.
