The ones that are more likely to defame your name are the ones like this Overo that keep going on and on the whole game. The guy didn't even stop typing in all chat...only after I left.

If thats the case then why use a new name? No one has ever heard of "ATHE1ST" so of course some people might become suspicious after they see some new guy who has typed his name in caps come out of no where and start owning.

Not saying it's a bad thing I sometimes use other names hoping that people ingame start suspecting. And so do many other players lol.
