OK - I'll try one more time with the reasonable approach: Your signature is too large. When I mistakenly informed you via PM that your prior modification was enough, I was wrong.

There's no point providing pixel based measurements if we don't enforce them.

You signature is currently 100 pixels too large, give or take a couple.

I apologise for measuring your signature incorrectly last time - now please edit it!

(And I won't disable signatures in my CP because as a moderator I need to enforce the rules, which includes ensuring the content of signatures is within the rules)
