scopes rule, i think they look good on any gun, they just have to be the right size. I've seen ak-47's with scopes and it looked pretty cool. They were on tv a lot too, a lot of those afgan and iraqi snipers/guys that shot at the americans from up on the cliffs then ran away had ak-47's with scopes. But since this gun probably isn't going to be used by a sniper, and wouldn't have the scope function, there would be no sense in putting a scope on it.
