I agree with everything else you said besides this, but you said personally so it's all good.

I have seen quite a few cheaters in the last month alone, but they have all been pretty obvious and taken care of in a short amount of time. At least most of them have, I guess there could be some that have gotten good at controlling themselves and keeping it under the radar. Not everyone that downloads cheats is dumb enough to get MVP with the right mouse click and a pistol... lols.
