Ofcourse headshots are already in the game... but it was not where you could just press a button to magically get them. Unlike aimbot giving you them all the time. It takes skill/timing/practice/experience/luck to get them normally. While the info the HUD shows was a simple click away, for everyone.

There is a huge difference in shortcutting what was already there and took minimal effort to get... and then shortcutting what was not there and making the whole game minimal effort.
