I strongly disagree.

Maybe I understand something different than you when I swrote "example"? Ever thought of that?
According to my definition there are no examples or situations which underline your statements.

Btw do you want to continue making baseless suppositions concerning my person? Or do you even want to start insulting me? I'm open for everything today - I already know enough, so there is no need but I'm also happy about every additional piece I can get. It's up to you Gozy

(@Others: Don't laugh about this here - this is scientific nerdrage on another level you would never think of! Just let me do - I'm just curious)
