Ronaldo, Carlos etc. are getting old.

I believe the first half was pretty dire, but the second half the Brazilians came back out with their fighting mentality and it payed off. You can't deny that Robinho was fantastic and Maicon's goal was either spectacular or indeed just luck, overall - not that bad a match...

I agree with you though about the preparations for Ivory Coast. Brazil will need to come out at the start with that fighting mentality or they will suffer severely.
