Posted by nikki6ixx on Mon, 16 Aug 2010 03:29:28 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That's very stange.

If it's doing it in three different OS', then it could be something to do with the software that comes with your motherboard, like a Realtek driver for your Ethernet jacks, or even your display driver. :/