

---

Subject: Re: ATI

Posted by a000clown on Mon, 13 Sep 2010 20:10:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

If you're willing to wait, the Radeon HD 6000 cards should be coming soon (also rumored to be a brand new architecture). Even if you don't plan on getting one it should cause the prices on older cards to drop.

Also just an fyi; ATI branding is being dropped in favor of AMD, so when the new cards come out they'll be AMD Radeon HD 6000 instead.

As far as recommendations are concerned, that 9600GT should be easy to beat. Radeon HD 4850 is the lowest you want to go, 5000 series is probably preferable for the DX11 support and nikki6ixx's suggestion would work well.

---