no it just means im doing a hell lotta other stuff so i cant be bothered to check it all and all that stuff

I'm sorry, I didn't realise the keys on your keyboard were so stiff that it takes a few minutes to enter each letter, in that case time is clearly a premium and therefore it is perfectly acceptable to present yourself like a moron.

Oh, just for reference, that was sarcasm. If you couldn't guess.
dude seriously ur destracting me im in a dawn of war game on neo seeker and facebook got a prob with that

No, I have no problem with that, however if you cannot tear your attention away from a forum to focus on other activities I would suggest you are the one with the problem. Why not finish your game before checking the forums again?

Personally I can multi-task quite easily, as I write this I am waiting for a large MSVC project to compile at work, so I am simply filling in my spare time whilst this happens by browsing forums. well dude its a 3v3 and i have been playing for hours and i have no problems i just quickly check wats happening while i wait for resources and u post masive things
