Do you ever play so much renegade that you dream about it?

I had the strangest dream! I dreamed that I was playing renegade, pwning people as usual and left my FRAP's running, but my monitor started flickering and my PC was acting all weird. I started to inspect the monitor and touched the screen, lo and behold I was sucked into the game!

I was like, this is a bit weird, but then Havok came running up to me and was like, please reborn, save me, you're so pro and stuff, and I need help! I couldn't believe it, we was only playing against troop and spoony, so I figured that I would quickly spank'em.

10 seconds later and we had won, partly due to me being so awesome, and partly due to them being so ghey.

Havok turned round and said I should post this on renegadeforums.com because I'm so pro.

I woke up and was like, WHOA! That was a pretty realistic dream to be fair. Then I logged onto my PC only to find a garbled up fraps recording, only a very small part of the audio was clear, so I've attached it here as proof that my dream was actually real!
