Eh, I honestly thought that by this time that the patch would be released. Ren was basically the only game that I played on PC, and I loved it. I can't really see myself coming back to it, though, even whenever this patch is released. Too big on consoles now. With Black-ops coming out and that hitting the PCL, probably be heading on that.

I'm hoping this patch comes out before Christmas this year, though. Because I would like to play Ren at least one more time with no cheaters. Just going to keep my hopes up though.
