I'm happy to report that the ladder is no longer "losing" games (not one lost since I restarted it a few weeks ago). I have added the start of a banning system and have banned A0000002W from the ladder which has improved the quality of the top names significantly.

When a game is "crossed out" on the listings, it means that it's either marked "unladdered" by the server or by me banning it. Servers that set themselves to unladdered send 0 points for all players (unless a script changes that).

If anyone can identify other servers that are sending warped ladder points, please let me know.
