In the end, Spooky is always willing to say or do something that he know will cause controversy, so that he can have his fun in arguing. It always turns out the same anyway....the opposition realizes that Spooky isn't going to stop until he gets the final 10+ quote respond in, so they just stop posting in the thread altogether and let Spooky walking away thinking he won some big debate. Those who realize this the earliest and stop posting after his posts are the real smart ones tbh. There's only like 3 people who are ever going to actually read all of this anyway, 2 of them are the arguers, and one is a moderator....seriously, I think it's be best if you just walked away Liquid....god knows Spooky isn't going to.
