Don't you hate it when you're point-whoring with an artillery or MRLS and you're finger aches and aches from manually holding down the "shoot" button?

Isn't it a pain when they're point-whoring and you have to sit, repairing and repairing?

Well suffer no more with the patented "Triggerbot™" that hold the mouse down for you!

It's as easy as 1. 2. 3.

1: Position yourself in a hard to hit area with a good view of your target.

2: Place the Triggerbot™ on the left mouse button.

3: Sit back, relax and watch the game play itself! Or if you're a woman, make me a sammich!
