
Subject: Re: Liquid trying to understand British logic - cleared

Posted by liquidv2 on Tue, 02 Nov 2010 00:44:44 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Quote:oh, it makes sense, it just ought to be pointed towards everyone except me instead of me that's a different argument

Quote:other than the higher-up admins at clanwars, i can only think of two people besides myself and blkst0rm who agreed with the ban, both of whom said so on MSN rather than the forum. see, it still had hope

Quote:held by who? the bowling alley owner who specifically chose to let the community have a vote? or just some guy from the community who got the weird idea that he's entitled to one? a random supporter of smoking, of course that was a joke by the way

Quote:if it's the latter then this is what makes it such a joke that people call it "democracy". they're actually trying to take someone's privately owned property and turn its control over to "the people". call it what it is, it's communism.

just put a slick hammer and sickle emblem on the top banner and you're good to go

Quote:you seem to be wrong about these things you "pick up on" quite a lot, though and it's good that you can clear it up when i am, i appreciate it

Quote:yes, that is the most important part of the equation... by far. i suppose, since all else is reduced to speculation

Quote:you ever heard of Occam's Razor?

sounds like a quest item in Zelda: Ocarina of Time i don't disagree, i'm sure simpee meant it when he said he didn't want to host a clan league it's not something that people generally do, and actually uncommon

Quote:if you mean did they decide policy by poll threads, no they didn't i guess it's understandable

Quote:i can see we're never going to agree on why that was, are we?

who knows, but it most likely does not matter why no one else has tried in recent years to make a non-Spoony clanwars league

i'm under the assumption that many people think you're pretty good at it and doubt they could do better so they don't bother trying

Quote:it's better than just making your admin decision and then locking the thread and ignoring what anyone says about it, and that's better than not hosting a league at all that's not your style, though and sure, people would disagree with that, but in the end no one is making them play there

Quote:not relevant?

it just clicked - i was thinking something completely different we're good

Quote:i assume you mean what if the clean track record players wanted the bug and the cheaters wanted the pointsfix?
yah, i got too used to saying one thing what then?

Quote:see how far you get by reading what i say instead of trying to figure out what i might be thinking but not saying? i've pissed an enormous number of people off by never shying away from saying what i mean... it's in secret subliminal spoony code or something

Quote:no, i didn't say that, i said there isn't anything praiseworthy in it.
i suppose not

Quote:how do you work that out?
i don't know, i think i thought it made sense at the time

Quote:sometimes it's fun against a worthy opponent. it's usually depressing when it's against someone who makes a bucket of pigshit look clever that's not a very nice thing to say

Quote:well, if they think it's worth their effort, it reinforces my point that one of them ought to have put some in.
how could a regular player put in effort? in what way do you mean, by assuming Whiskey's role as renadmin?

Quote:i can see you're not going to easily digest the idea that open debate on a particular question is a good thing for its own sake.
i just assume you have some evil intention because you're British and you seem to enjoy debates in general some people have fun in winning things, even if their opponents are terrible are you one of those people?
