yes, you're a bit behind me there hitman, i've said that the results are what they are, but if you want to point to those games as evidence then let's talk about how they actually went, hmm? i can see i've upset you a great deal by doing so. ironic, really, considering how desperately you want to ignore all the evidence that supports the idea of me being a much better player than you can bring yourself to admit, though you never had a problem saying so before this thread drove you berserk.

Quote:u dont seem to admit that islands was bullshit aswell, um, just how thick are you? when did i boast about winning islands, or say it was a worthwhile game? what i did say was that some of us (myself, gozy, whiskey and hypnos as it happens) are having a serious discussion about how to deal with stuff like this. compare that to your team's reaction, which was a colossal ragequit and five minutes' bitching on teamspeak thereafter.

Quote:and u dont see me telling u that people like whiskey and someone else was afk in the start of a few maps due to phone calls etc, if your really that good, MAKE UP FOR IT you make your case weaker by spouting crap like this, not stronger. did i say i was so good that i could win an 8v6 against players like hitman and whiskey? no, don't think i did, although the fact you could only win them by 3 seconds on volcano or 200 points on volcano might give you pause to reconsider some of the garbage you've already thrown out there

Quote:3: we'll never be able to play a fair game that spoony loses since there will always be someone afk/sbh/engi instead of tech for spoony to use as an argument as to why it didn't go as it should of lol no, i don't make excuses about losses. i just made some very obvious observations about the random players who joined and immediately went afk, and the fact that we were thrashing you on field until it suddenly went 8v5, etc. we're back to my earlier point about how none of the "evidence" you present can be scrutinised in any way, cos if all you've got is the fact you only just barely managed to win a 8v6, your case doesn't look all that strong, does it? if anything it shows that i'm better than you, doesn't it?

Quote:, do u really think our team was all playing serious or to their fullest? IT WAS UNPASSWORDED FOR A REASON and we've concluded that they should be passworded now.

Quote:4: u still lost the maps, and are down 4-1(if ur cool enough to even count islands, which im sure u will since u won it lol) jeez, hitman, just how pathetic are you? it's really sad, and it shows you can't refute a single thing i've said.

Quote:i'd think the best player/leader BY FAR (lol) will make sure this doesn't happen, regardless if one of your superior public players got an sbh(and actually stole 2 tanks) on under instead of a light tank orso...

when did i describe the random guys we were lumbered with as "superior"? why must you lie like this? are you really that pathetic, hitman? don't turn into simpee, seriously...

Quote:5: got an explanation for field aswell? sure enough if there's one map where your superior leading skills should do the trick, that map would be it, yet we were tearing u guys apart quite fast "how about field, which we were dominating you until the teams started to get stacked? we had a significant points lead and a dead nod refinery, then suddenly it's 8v5 for some reason and you start to claw your way back. well done."

Quote:and now im done with this topic, no matter what you say.
have fun being the best only recognized by yourself and starbuzz bye.

bye. seriously hitman, just calm down.
