the map reported is actually the map afterward (or it might be before, one or the other)

this happened on the clan ladder too as for GDI winning a tie, that's not necessarily true. GDI wins a scoreless tie, but if both teams have say 45976 points at the end, it's overwhelmingly likely one team will have more than the other after the decimal point (e.g. GDI might have 45976.2, nod has 45976.5 - nod would get the win even though it looks like both team's scores are equal)
