I have been playing MW2 on 360 for a lil while now, I love it. Thinking about getting the map packs for it, but the copy I have been playing is not mine, GF's cousin keeps leaving it over.

I borrowed Black Ops from a friend at work, played it for about 2 days... It was ok, but it didn't compare to MW2 IMO. I personally like the newer weapons and attachments (e.g heartbeat sensor, thermal scope). Also I like the perks better on MW2, Lord of war doesn't work for under barrels and pro doesn't give 2 secondary attachments. And shotguns as primary weapons? Fuck that, I can get more range with a pistol.

The few things with Black Ops that did seem better were, tomahawk > throwing knife, the camera spike sounded cool (didn't use it since I had 2 players on all the time), and the 2 grenade slots plus a 3rd for the new equipment was nice. Ballistic knife and crossbow sounded cool for just killing people with a lil more style, but not worth taking the secondary slot.

Still got quick scoping faggots that don't know how to properly use a sniper rifle... Someone actually hugged a wall on me in Black Ops, I thought I had joined a Ren server...

Although I do agree that MW2 should be considerably cheaper by now. The guy I borrowed Black Ops from said he would have got MW2, but it was $10 more...
