Now wait a second, wait a second, wait a second. Hold your horses here for a moment. You're going to have to excuse my ignorance on this matter because it's the first I've heard of it.

Let me get this straight; There is a serial shooter on the loose... and these people are not only supporting him, but they are rubbing the death of the victims in the faces of their friends and families? Because they think GOD sent the SHOOTER?!

Holy crap, I really wish I could meet this person. I know exactly what I want to say to her after I slap her across the face.

If a mythical place like hell does exist, it is in no way sufficient enough for this thing of a person.
