My friends all pitched in and got me a PS3 with COD;Black Ops for my birthday. Extremely nice of them!

I'm not a fan of controllers, so I purchased the Eagle Eye converter so I could use a keyboard and mouse, thinking it would feel more comfortable and a bit more of a PC feel.

I've played the zombie mode a few times and played about 14 maps online.

I probably won't be playing it much more, not unless I get a call to jump on with some friends. It's shit. You frag, you frag again, you frag a couple more times. You die. You respawn. Why the fuck do people like this shit so much?

Hell yes, I played for 99999 hours and now have all upgrades to all weapons! zomg!1!11!!

I just spent an hour playing renegade, the ps3 is now retired after a week to a media centre as I have it set up to my NAS drive wirelessly (although even that is pretty gay as I had to map it out via my PC, lucky it's always on anyway...).
