hey,

sorry to bring back such an old thread, however I feel there is no point creating a new thread when this one is already existing.

I previously thought that I had lost ammo for good. However during a clean-up in my storage areas, I was lucky enough to find an old copy of the site on CD. I am able to host the site myself as run roguey.co.uk now.

So ammo is back (just took 6 years to find the CD, Doh!)! I am trying to contact all the old staff however some of details must be very old. Mats0174 email account no long exists, does anyone know his contact details? I know you guys probably moved onto new things but it would great to hear from you again.

On the backup CD was all the code, database, pictures and a few skins and boinks. There were no Renegade/Generals maps, I dont suppose anyone has them?
