

---

Subject: Re: BLACK OPS COMMENTARY (HILARIOUS LOL)

Posted by Dover on Thu, 17 Mar 2011 00:29:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

R315r4z0r wrote on Wed, 16 March 2011 13:19Dover wrote on Wed, 16 March 2011 00:29It's actually more like comparing the competitiveness of checkers or tic tac toe (Call of Duty) with Chess (Counter-Strike). or better yet, comparing the competitiveness of MLB (Quake) with middle school girl's underhand slow pitch church league softball (Halo).

WHAT is compared is not the point. My point is that you can compare them and never have one be better than the other because different people have different tastes.

If you're talking about one person, then they can say what they like better and what they tend to compete more in. That's easy. But when talking about a group of people, it's harder to determine.

You're missing my point. If somebody said that they played competitive tic tac toe, and they weren't trying to be funny, I'd immediately know they were an idiot. They might have different tastes, sure, but that just makes them an idiot with different tastes. "Taste" here is irrelevant. Some people like being kicked in the nuts for fun, but that doesn't make that a legitimate means of entertainment, and it certainly doesn't make it a competitive sport.

---