This isn't a request for me personally as I don't use RR but could one of the TT guys who has the latest build download RR, install it and see if you can still use the launcher if you uncheck the enable RR box?

Atleast that way you can answer that question? I think its far easier for you guys to download RR than for us to find a leaked copy of TT and do it ourselves, no?

I just want TT to be released now as its been a few years and we're dying very quickly so if the launcher still works then you wont have to mess around making a new one.
