Think about how many people are suddenly going to become shit...

Plus compulsory Points mod!!!!

but most importantly the end of this bloody TT forum...

3 years almost... I have almost outgrown computer games since it was announced (almost).

This made me laugh a bit. I actually like this forum; it's the first thing I check whenever I come to the site. There's also been a good amount of drama.

But, on topic, the anti-cheat. I can't wait to see how many people become shit players, or the good snipers these days become sudden tankers.

All I got to say is the tunnels on Field are going to be awfully empty whenever TT comes out... We'll see. People cry so much about cheats anyway. I guarantee a lot of people are going to be surprised on how many of the people they think cheat, don't actually cheat.

everyone can play, but those who always used to get hs like tempozia will suddenly start getting body shots...

Only a few people will get weeded out then....Not nearly as many as people are anticipating imo.....

Well, the first thing I'm going to do is go to st0rm and see how many people suddenly suck.
