Have you heard of Infinity? It's a WIP...have been following them for a while now though it is taking a lot of time. Great demo here:

This is what I would play. Full free-form space flight with custom craft, and most importantly seamless space flight (ability to go from space-to-planet without load times).

Yeah that looks interesting... thing I didnt like about Eve was it was too complex and took too long to get stuff, and you never get to fly around freely (computer always auto piolets to where you wanna go) plus if you spent like 2 months getting a cool ship and go into like 0 space someone could wipe you out in like 1 shot..
