You would rather the brave soldiers put themselves in further danger by trying to take him alive, while he scrambled for his guns?
It's a war. Soldiers fought. The bad guy got shot and died.
It wasn't a police raid on a house party, these fuckers where firing RPG's and shit!