For the record I do not cheat, I am trying to put myself in a cheaters mind set...

It's fun to be naughty sometimes.

It's more fun to be naughty and get away with it, so being subtle is a good way to avoid being caught.

It's nice to have people think you're a good player.

When you're getting headshot and dieing quite a bit, it's nice to seek some revenge and get that damn fucker.

You're pretty sure other people are cheating anyway.

Your team are full of window lickers, so it's self justifiable to give yourself an edge, because seriously, your team is that bad!

Curiosity to try it out.

I think most of all though, it's probably because they are quite fed up with their shitty lives, or just really bored. Instead of being the sucky n00b that keeps dieing and getting pissed off, it's time to go make others pissed off and rage. It somehow makes them feel a bit better, if only for a moment...
