Just wanting to let a few people know MP-Gaming is planning to remake another Renegade AOW server fulltime. It's in the initial idea stage at the moment...I have had to slow zunnie's ass down somewhat because he's already got one up and running.

For the longest time we were content with other games and just keeping up the MissionDM server. With the current sentiment I've seen lately of MP being "fail"...it kind of boosted those oldies to try again...rawr.

Normally with this dying game I wouldn't bother trying...but current plans of mine are to pretty much stay in one spot and make it "home" again. So don't worry, I wont go advertising in servers(except for old friends). I wont need to...already have a team willing to wait it out and draw people...loyalty, gotta love it.

With the current talent involved, it's going to be badass to say the least when we are finished.

A work in progress link ^

Side note: We will be trying to get people from other games to Renegade as well, since the playerpool is kind of low lately.
