Cypher [PCNC]England, actually, Tech Support is good.

It's the community support and long lasting game support that is lacking, to say the least.

The tech support itself is good, very good even.... I'm referring to the actual support department that helps out with technical stuff. Never had a problem with them, always helpful... if you know how to use it. Heh....

Anyway, the Classic is just a very low priced re-release of the game. 8.99 Pounds according to a UK site.

That's good, maybe there will be an influx of new Renegade players to the community.

Now we just need them to be recieved well by the current community... new mappers, modders, skimmers, whatever....

Hehe.... Time to do some PR work for Renegade.

LOL i wonder how much they can bring it down here in america with that new box. Its already 10 dollers. Mabey if all of the little kids of the world buys the new box they would make rengade two.... nah
